STATE COMMANDER OF LEGION THRILLS HIS DIXON HEARERS

official piece of legislation, which we have sought.

"It was the American Legion which demanded the investigations into the Veterans Bureau where thousands of dollars of taxpayers' money which had been paid in to be used for the relief of disabled ex-service men were squandered.

Illinois is Behind

"Illinois as yet has not come to a high point in efficiency in the care and treating of these disabled men as should become the state. Hundreds are being cared for in the state institutions which are crowded. The taxpayers of Illinois are paying the difference between the treatment which these men are entitled to receive and that treatment which they are receiving. Wisconsin leads over Illinois 42 per cent in the number of men that have received treatment and are being sent back into society as an asset. These men in these institutions are deserving of all that can be given them that they may enjoy home and society that they have been prevented from enjoying."

In closing, Commander Bullington briefly reviewed the work being carried on at the government hospital at Maywood both by the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary. According to figures which he cited, there are in Illinois more than 5000 children who are orphans of deceased ex-service men. In this connection he cited the child welfare program adopted by the Legion, which he said was a most comprehensive method providing for the care of these little children.

At Normal, Ill., the commander said, there were 400 little children in one home and 40 of these orphans of deceased world war veterans. He concluded by giving some very touching scenes in the daily life pertaining to the care of both the disabled veterans and orphans and made a plea for more attention being given to this wonderful work.

raised to the sublime degree of a master mason September 2. He demitted from that lodge January 2, 1871 and was elected in Oregon lodge January 4. He was senior deacon in 1871 and 1872 and junior warden in 1873. We shall certainly miss our beloved brother, for he was always willing to do his part and was never too busy to give talks before the lodge when called upon to do so. He was a man upon whom we could depend and although never pushing himself into the limelight he was as true a soldier in his lodge work as he was in the service of his country.

Dixon Aviators Fall 100 Feet, Uninjured

The second plane from the Dixon Aviation field to meet an accident this year, was badly damaged last evening about 7 o'clock when it performed a nose dive, landing in the Crawford field just east of Franklin Grove. Aviator Wilson McClanahan was flying the machine and was carrying a passenger at the time but both escaped without injury, the plane falling a distance of about 100 feet. The plane is said to have struck an air pocket from which it could not rise, with the result that it fell to the earth. It will be brought back to the aviation field to be repaired.

Last Meeting Ideal Club and Luncheon

The Ideal club met with Mrs. Fred Wahnke, 117 Dixon avenue, Wednesday, in the last regular meeting of the club year, and it proved one of the most enjoyable of the entire year.

A beautiful picnic luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, the program given directly afterwards. Musical numbers on the Victrola and piano solos by Mrs. Blake Grover were much enjoyed.

A paper was read by Mrs. Jacob Wahnke, entitled, "Most Ancient Made New," and was an interesting article on the reclamation of the Everglades in Florida.

Mrs. T. L. Stokes gave varied and interesting current events.

During the business session the following officers were chosen for the coming year:

President—Mrs. H. L. Fordham. Vice President—Mrs. Fred Wahnke. Secretary and Treasurer—Mrs. H. W. Leydig.

Light refreshments were enjoyed before the club adjourned.

Entertained at Tea This Afternoon

This afternoon at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Sichel, Mrs. Alfred Welch entertained a few friends. Mrs. Welch, who has many friends here, is here to attend the wedding of her daughter, Carol to Hugo E. Surman Saturday afternoon.

Lovely spring flowers formed graceful bouquets about the rooms.

Tea was served and a most delightful afternoon spent at this hospitable home.

Gave Shower for Mrs. W. C. Sell

Wednesday afternoon the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Church of the Brethren held a surprise for Mrs. W. C. Sell, wife of the pastor, Rev. Sell, at the parsonage. The surprise was in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Sell, which occurs on Sunday. The ladies presented Mrs. Sell with some very pretty handkerchiefs in the shower they held for her. At the close of the pleasant afternoon ice cream and wafers were served and all wished Mrs. Sell many happy returns of the day.

Mrs. Sell replied with her favorite verse, starting "For the sunshine of the heart is the sunshine of the day."

Auxiliary U.S.W.V. in Pleasant Meeting

Tuesday evening the members of the Auxiliary to the U. S. W. V. held a well attended meeting in G. A. R. hall, at which Mrs. Lucile Danielson, Department President, of Oak Park, was present, to inspect the work.

After the meeting a reception was held in Mrs. Danielson's honor and refreshments were served.

During her stay in Dixon Mrs. Danielson was entertained at the home of Mrs. Lester Street, Dixon president, 520 North Jefferson avenue.

Mrs. M. K. Northam, Miss Spafford in Race

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Moline, Ill., May 22.—Mrs. E. S. Daley, Chicago, last night withdrew as a candidate for reelection to the office of the general federation of directors of the Illinois Women's clubs, leaving the race between Mrs. Martin K. Northam, of Evanston, and Miss Jessie S. Spafford, of Rockford.

Mrs. N. C. McLean of East St. Louis is the only candidate for second vice president. Mrs. M. W. Coultrap of Naperville is unopposed for treasurer. The women are balloting this morning and the results were to be announced late today.

The peace resolution adopted by the federation yesterday afternoon declared that "the best contribution to the cause of peace is loyalty and obedience to the constituted authority of our own and honored land."

The convention reaffirmed the belief of Illinois club women in the principle upon which the nation was founded and pledged the federation to any local service which may be required.

Some people think that we are trying to serve only those who are planning homes.

That's not correct.

We ask everybody to invest savings here who wants a safe and good paying service.

Fact is, we need several savers to furnish the funds for each borrower.

And every man gets well paid for the use of his money.

Furthermore, all funds are safeguarded by the finest kind of mortgages on improved real estate.

So remember, please, we would like to have you with us, even if you don't want a home. Perhaps you already have a home.

I do the very best I know how—the very best I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything; if the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference.—Abraham Lincoln.

Held Enjoyable Meeting of Circle

Members of the Prairieville Social Circle held a most enjoyable meeting with Mrs. Hazel Sauer yesterday—an all-day meeting with a picnic dinner at noon. There were present nineteen members, two guests and twelve children. One new member was admitted.

The dinner was unusually appetizing and much enjoyed. The Sauer home was bright with spring flowers. This was again what might be termed "Egg Day," as the members had brought thirty dozen eggs to be packed and sent to the sanitarium at Oak Forest where there is a home for tubercular soldiers and sailors. In the afternoon the children gave a most interesting musical program including a piano duet by Marion Myers and Amelia Thummel, a vocal solo by Leland Myers and several school songs by groups of girls, Edna LeFevre gave a vocal solo, Catherine Runt a piano solo, Marion Myers a piano solo.

The next meeting will start the afternoon meetings and will start two weeks from yesterday, at which time the Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Greta Kreider in Sterling. Mesdames Belle Royer and Mrs. Celia Powell will be the assistant hostesses at the next meeting.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—Removing Ice Cream.

When ice cream will not come out of the mold, having been frozen so hard, let a little cold water run over the outside of the container. This will melt it sufficiently to loosen it without spoiling the shape of the mold.

To Fry Eggs.

Add a little flour to the grease in which you are frying your eggs and they will not pop when the grease becomes very hot. Likewise the flavor will be greatly improved.

Golden Rule Circle Meeting

The Golden Rule Circle of the Grace Evangelical church, held their monthly meeting last Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Carl Johnson, 1241 Long avenue.

During the program Lois and Helen, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson played two piano duets. After the devotions, a business session was held. It was decided to pack barrels for the Evangelical Mission at Beverly, Ky., some time next week. Any one having clothing they wish to donate may bring it to the church, or notify some member of the class.

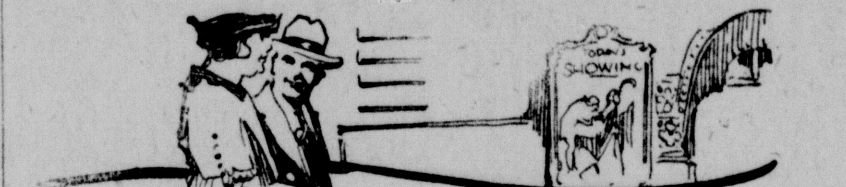

After the business, a social hour was enjoyed and the hostess served refreshments of ice cream and cake.

ANNUAL PICNIC—PRACTICAL CLUB—

The annual picnic for members and families of the Practical Club will be held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Street, 526 N. Jefferson avenue. Dishes and silverware, sandwiches and any other dish for the picnic supper may be taken by the members.

Like a maze of color, such was she, or a rainbow in the sky; and she made me think of a sun-kissed day as she calmly sauntered by. Her hat, her gown, well, everything, it seemed, was just that quaint to make you think of the harmony that a painter'd like to paint.

And who am I that I judge this miss? Well, she looked in my direction, and her smile that day, as she glanced my way, was last word in perfection. How often I have seen that girl, the vision quickly told me, and I walked right up and spoke to her 'cause I knew she wouldn't scold me.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY.
A Daily Menu for the Stout and Thin.
LOSE WEIGHT.

One cup clear chicken broth, 1/4 cup fresh strawberries, 4 ounces baked bluefish, 1 cup new string beans, three ounces onion salad, 4 tablespoons fruit cup, 1 pint skimmed milk, 1 cup coffee with 1 tablespoon cream and 1 level teaspoon sugar, 2 thin crisp pieces gluten toast, 1 whole wheat roll.

Total calories, 118. Protein, 26.9; fat, 37.7; carbohydrate, 472. Iron, .0163 gram.

If you must have coffee with sugar and cream you must add 100 calories of pure fat for the cream and about 25 calories of carbohydrate for the sugar and figure no iron grams or other minerals. The coffee itself has no food value.

To my way of thinking you make a bad bargain when you give up 125 precious calories for a cup of coffee with sugar and cream.

These calories will provide you with six protein calories, three fat and 91 carbohydrate to say nothing of .0005 iron grams and vitamins if you spoon them for one good-sized orange.

More than that you will have 25 perfectly good calories left for radishes, spinach, onions or cabbage. A breakfast of one whole orange, one cup hot skimmed milk and one piece of crisp unbuttered gluten or whole wheat toast will prove its worth before noon time for it will give you something lasting to work on while coffee stimulates for the time but does nothing more.

GAIN WEIGHT.

One glass orange juice, one cup cooked cereal with 3 large stewed figs and 2 tablespoons juice, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1/4 cup cream, 1 cup chicken broth with 2 tablespoons melted rice, 1/4 recipe baked asparagus with 4 tablespoons cream sauce, 1 cup fresh strawberry with 1 tablespoon powdered sugar, 4 tablespoons fruit cup, 4 ounces baked bluefish with 2 tablespoons egg sauce, 1 cup new string beans in cream, 3 ounces onion salad with 3 tablespoons French dressing, 4 tablespoons maple mousse, 1 pint whole milk, 2 bran cereals, 4 toasted bread sticks, 2 Parker House rolls, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 cheese cup.

Total calories, 427. Protein, 52.9; fat, 179.2; carbohydrate, 1916. Iron, .0192 gram.

Baked Asparagus.
One bunch asparagus, 4 eggs, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons asparagus liquor.

Cut tough ends from asparagus and tie loosely in bundles. Cook in boiling salted water until tender, about half an hour. Cook for the first ten minutes with the heads out of water, then lay flat and finish cooking. Beat whites and yolks of eggs separately. Cool four tablespoons asparagus liquor and add to yolks. Beat until thick and lemon colored. Beat whites until stiff and dry. Combine whites and yolks. Put asparagus in a buttered baking dish, pour over egg mixture and bake in a moderate oven until firm to the touch, about 25 minutes. Serve at once.

Total calories, 424. Protein, 130; fat, 256; carbohydrate, 38. Iron, .0095 gram.

MISS NELLIE DUNN AND LOUIS CHAPMAN TO MARRY—

(Telegraph Special Service.)

Springfield, Ill., May 22.—A marriage license was issued here today to Louis E. Chapman, aged 26, of Chenoa, McLean county, and Miss Nellie Dunn, aged 25, of Rochelle, Ogles county.

Then we sauntered up the avenue to a small but good cafe, where we passed perhaps an hour or two (and a five-buck bill) away. And then she talked of a movie show, and, of course, that's where we went. And, my, oh, my, how the time does fly, for another hour was spent.

When the film was over and there was no more, and we had no place to go, we took a car and we traveled till we finally landed home. 'Twas a night well spent for a girl and gent, and I'm ready for another; 'cause I oft partake, and for her dear sake, the girl I take's my mother.

Aid Society Met with Mrs. Floto

The spacious country home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Floto was the scene of a happy meeting of the Kingdom-Mt. Union Aid Society on Wednesday, May 21.

A delicious picnic dinner was enjoyed at noon, the hostess serving roast pork, mashed potatoes and gravy, home-made buns and coffee as her portion.

Sewing on the aprons was begun after dinner and a great deal of work accomplished. The hostess donated a crocheted yoke for a child's dress, to the society, to be made up for the bazaar.

The president, Mrs. Brink, called the meeting to order and a chapter of the bible was read, roll call and reading of the minutes of the previous meeting were read.

Miss Alice Brink gave a reading entitled "When Dad Washed the Dishes He Left the Pans to Soak."

Alice Mae Morris gave two readings which were much enjoyed.

The next meeting will be at the Community House next Wednesday, May 28.

Members note change of meeting day.

Meeting Lee Co. Unit Ill. Women's Club

There will be a meeting of the Lee County Unit Illinois Republican Women's club on Monday, May 26th, at 2:30 o'clock at the Court House.

Reports of the state conference will be given at this time and all are invited to attend this meeting.

The members having poll books, are requested to please leave them with the secretary at this time.

Picnic for Miss Tyne on Sunday

On Sunday a picnic was held in the woods near Mr. Morris for Miss Katherine Tyne of Waukegan, who is to become the bride of Edward Morrissey of Walton.

There were about seventy friends and relatives present and a very tempting dinner was served.

MYSTIC WORKERS IN BIG MEETING FRIDAY EVENING—

The regular meeting of the Mystic Workers in Union Hall Friday evening promises to be of more than usual importance. Supreme President Bentley has promised to be present, and possibly a number of other supreme officers. A large class of adult members in addition to a number of juveniles will be taken into the order.

ENTERTAINED CHICAGO GUESTS OVER SUNDAY—

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Sadler entertained at their home in Dixon over Sunday, Miss Helen Wright and Miss Laura Collister of Chicago.

Slipovers For Sports Wear

THERE'S many a slipover 'twixt the cup and the fairway. This handy and serviceable knit garment will prove one of the favorites of the spring and summer season, not only for the golfer but for the tennis player, the canoeist and, in fact, for every man who hearkens to the call of the outdoors.

Known variously as the slipover and slipo, the pullover and pullon, this sweater comes in a number of weights, patterns, and colors. The lightest in weight is but a few ounces and will be fine for warm weather wear. "Big Bill" Tilden has done much to popularize this model, and it will be a favorite with tennis devotees, being worn to and from the courts and between sets. To meet all needs there are of course medium and heavy weight slipovers.

Members of athletic and social clubs, students of schools and colleges will be able to obtain the sweaters in their own colors. These colors frequently appear in stripes about the neck and the waist.

Plain solid colors, too, will be greatly worn and there will be a wide choice in fancy colors, of which the illustration shown above is a very good example. The front and back consists of a pattern of canary yellow, brown, heather, and blue, while the sleeves are in a solid heather mixture. Brown, canary and heather stripes appear around the smart V neck.

WAINSCOT IN A ROOM

Wainscoting in a room should never be halfway up. It should be either three-eighths the height of the wall, if it is to be low, or five-eighths the height if it is to be high. The Greeks used this same principle of proportions in architecture and other branches of art.

GIVE CHILDREN A YARD SWING

This is the second of a series of ten articles on the construction and use of playground equipment adapted to the back yard.

BY W. C. BATCHELOR.

A swing is one of the most popular diversions for either a boy or a girl.

We never quite outgrow the pleasurable sensation resulting from our bodies traveling through the air. It may be by means of a swing, a broad jump, a pole vault, a dive, riding in an automobile, an airplane, or a mechanical device at an amusement park. Once fear is overcome the pleasure is universal.

The first consideration, therefore, in the construction of a swing, is safety. A swing should be built by a good workman. Iron pipe is preferable for the framework, but with care a safe and substantial swing frame may be built of wood at a considerable saving. Ten feet is a good height. The seat should be 20 inches from the ground.

The accompanying sketch indicates a safe method of construction. Material for frame:
Two pieces, 4 inches by 4 inches by 13 feet (uprights).
Four pieces, 2 inches by 4 inches by 8 feet (braces).
One piece, 4 inches by 44 inches by 6 feet (cross bar).
One pound No. 20 casing nails.
(Approximate cost, $3.50).

The joints should be mortised, bound with band iron, or braced with 2 by 4 inch cleats.

If an iron frame is desired, the following materials are needed:

Two pieces 33-inch pipe, 13 feet.
One piece 33-inch pipe, 6 feet.

(The third article of this series, telling how to build a horizontal bar in your yard, will appear tomorrow.)

PLOWMAN'S 5c, 10c and 25c STORE

The Store of Real Bargains

Two 33-foot elbows.
Two 3-foot flanges.
(Approximate cost, $18.67).
For galvanized pipe and malleable fittings, add about 25 per cent.
If set 3 feet in concrete, no braces are necessary.

Chain is superior to rope for the swing. Hangers should be of roller or ball-bearing type to avoid wear. Hangers, or swings complete with hangers, may be purchased from local sporting goods dealers. For children up to 5 or 6 years, a baby swing of the chair type is preferable.

Material for swing:
Eighteen feet of bulldog chain, No. 4-0, 90 cents.
One piece, 2 inches by 8 inches by 20 inches, 15 cents.

Two ball-bearing hangers.
(For wood frame, $4.25).
(For pipe frame, $5.70).

Instead of ball-bearing hangers, a blacksmith will make either of the two hangers shown in the upper left-hand corner of the diagram for about one dollar.

The steel link swing is ready-made with ball-bearing hangers. (For wood frame, $9.00; for pipe frame $9.50). The chair swing is ready-made with ball-bearing hangers. (For wood frame, $7.50; for pipe frame, $9.50).

An old automobile tire, suspended by a rope or chain, makes a very good improvised swing, and, if hung about 3 feet from the ground, also answers the purpose of a trapeze for small children.

FORD COUNTS HIS MONEY.

It must make Henry Ford dizzy when he rounds up a flock of adding machines and figures out what he is worth.

The Ford Motor Company, in its latest financial report, reveals that its earnings were at least 82 million dollars during the twelve months ended February 29.

This is equivalent to 4 per cent interest on more than two billion dollars—which figure may not be far from the real total of the Ford fortune, on the basis of earning power.

Along this line, you can do some interesting figuring about yourself. Take your income for a year. Multiply it by 25, and you have the amount you are really "worth."

Income (salary, wages, etc.) is to the individual what interest is to money in the bank or invested in bonds.

For instance, a man able to earn $4000 a year is in practically the same boat as the man with a fortune of $100,000 earning 4 per cent interest. (Except that one works for his money, while the other has his money work for him.)

The Ford Motor Company lists its combined assets as worth over 568 million dollars, compared with about 400 millions two years ago.

Such a sum is beyond the imagination of most of us. It is tremendously large. And yet the elder John D. Rockefeller, according to some estimates, has given away nearly that much for education, science, charity and so on.

Rich men, like Ford and Rockefeller and Mellon, are unable to figure exactly what they are worth. Value based on earning power might shrink a lot, or it might expand, if the properties in which the fortune is invested were liquidated sold.

You may have furniture that would cost $1000 to replace. In selling, you might have to let it go for $500. Or, if it were old enough, antique collectors might pay $2000.

Frozen wealth and liquid wealth are different things.

The "good-will" of the Ford Motor Co. is listed in its statement at nearly 21 million dollars. But "good-will" includes reputation, prestige and the value of the Ford name as created by advertising and business methods.

Many corporations would pay 10 times 21
millions to be able to duplicate the Ford
"good-will" for their own businesses.

HIS PARTY WANTS HIM.

A few months ago it was charged by President Coolidge's rivals for the republican nomination that the pocket delegations from the southern states had been enlarged for the purpose of increasing his vote in the convention and giving him a decided advantage over his opponents.

Now that the delegations are lining up,
however, it is apparent that whether there was any basis for the accusation or not, the president is not likely to need the south. His active friends list 653 votes as already "sure," with many more to come; and this number is more than sufficient to nominate Mr. Coolidge. Of this total, only 94 votes are from the boss-managed pocket-boroughs of the south—showing that the main strength of the president lies in the east, north and west.
Where campaigns are hard-fought, and where other candidates could have fought Mr. Coolidge on even terms.

In the solid south three states are still to be heard from—Alabama, Texas and Arkansas. Georgia's delegation is contested, and is not included in the Coolidge totals. To offset these states there is in the north the important state of Indiana which is reasonably certain to send a Coolidge delegation.

No, the renomination of Mr. Coolidge will not be due to the activities of party managers in the south. It will come—unless prevented by unforeseen circumstances—because the rank and file of the republican party in those states which are most strongly republican have compared Mr. Coolidge with other candidates and have decided that he is preferable to the field. And the emphasis with which they have supported Mr. Coolidge, not only in New England, but throughout the north and the west, proves that this preference is not sectional, but nation-wide.

DR. BUTLER'S UNFITNESS.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, head of Columbia university, New York City, takes a unique position among reputedly high-standing American educators, placing himself in opposition to the great mass of his fellow educators and good citizens generally. He is a radical wet, and thus throws grave doubt on his fitness for so high and responsible a position. He declares "It is no more moral or immoral to drink or to refrain from drinking alcoholic liquor than it is to eat or refrain from eating roast beef."

Think of the dire results to young people in his great school who have faith in him and his teachings. How many of them are likely to become drunkards and worthless citizens through following his advice? How many of them are likely to use their influence, to the detriment of their fellows and their country, for the restoration of the American saloon?

Then, inasmuch as the English have the reputation of being great eaters of roast beef, while we in America have the habit of eating it and the roast beef to eat, does Dr. Butler invite international complications? Does he want the English to resent his imputation that their eating habits are as bad as whisky drinking?

HOPE FOR CLEVELAND.

Reports from Cleveland are that the civic leaders have begun worrying over the hotel accommodations for the national convention of the republican party. A careful canvass of all the rooms in all classes of hotels, in the clubs and in available apartment houses has been made. And still there is danger that the accommodations will be insufficient.
Yachtsmen have been asked to moor their boats along the water front, to be used as sleeping quarters.

It seems clear, however, that the Cleveland canners have forgotten a hotel arrangement which should furnish plenty of room for delegates. As the days go by, and state after state reports a solid delegation for President Coolidge's renomination, the availability of spacious headquarters, engaged for Hiram W.
Johnson last December, becomes more clear.
The present indications are that there will be plenty of room in the hotel rooms reserved for Johnson, however, congested the rest of Cleveland may become.

LUCKY MAN!

Mr. Coolidge's proverbial luck continues.
Frank A. Vanderlip announces that he considers the president a grievous disappointment and that therefore he will not vote for the president's re-election unless the later shows a change of heart.

Mr. Vanderlip is at present inclined to favor the candidacy of John W. Davis, but has good words to say for Senator LaFollette. Mr.
LaFollette has been too ill to rest Mr. Van-derlip's support.

JINGLES.

Turkey is reported to have legalized liquor after trying prohibition for a year. Two reasons: The government missed the revenue from hooch; and the people had turned from liquor to drugs.

The Mohammedan religion for centuries forbade the use of alcoholic beverages. Leaders promised faithful Moslems they would have rivers of wine in Paradise. In America the thirsty are promised light wines and beers later—always later.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

The Twins started out to deliver the things.

One day Mrs. Cracknuts telephoned to the store for some groceries.
"I want two cents worth of soap,"
she said, "and one cent worth of tea, and five cents worth of butter, and a loaf of bread, and a pint of maple syrup."

"I'm sorry," said Nancy who had answered the telephone for Mister Bass, "but we haven't a drop of maple syrup left."

"Oh, dear!" cried Mrs. Cracknuts.
"I'm sorry about that. I just took a notion I wanted some last night and I thought I couldn't wait for the store to open this morning. I see to Daddy.
I see, 'Daddy, the minute Mister Bass' store is open tomorrow, I'm going to telephone for some maple syrup. It seems to me I can smell it. I want it so much."

"I'm ever so sorry, Mrs. Cracknuts," said Nancy. "Is there anything else?"
"No, I guess not," said the squirrel lady in a disappointed voice.

"All right," said Nancy. "Thank you, Mrs. Cracknuts."

Mister Bass got the groceries all ready and put them into a basket and the Twins started out to deliver the things to Mrs. Cracknuts who lived in Maple Tree Flats.

They walked up the stairway inside of the big maple tree their magic shoes made this very easy and knocked on Mrs. Cracknuts' kitchen door.

"Come in," called the squirrel lady.
"Just put the groceries on the table, please. I've got my hands in the dish water."

"Certainly," said Nick, opening the door and laying out the bread and butter and everything on the nice clean kitchen table.

The Tangle

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO RUTH ELLINGSON, CON-TINUED

I was really surprised, Ruth dear, when Karl left me so abruptly. I don't understand him at all. Surely he must love Alice, or he would not have asked her to marry him.

Karl, you know dear, is a queer sort of a chap—lovable in the extreme,
but a man who wants to be let alone and cares very little for society; who has a vague love of beauty, and is kindly disposed toward every one, because to be kind is easiest for him.

I don't think he'll be happy being managed by Alice, and no one could live with Alice without being managed. To tell you the truth, dear, I am much disappointed in my little sister. She is too self-centered, too selfish to appeal to me. Although mother has said nothing to her about it, I think she has this feeling too, for I caught her two or three times the other evening when Alice was making Karl fetch and carry for her, looking at Alice with a sad smile.

Nevertheless, Ruth dear, I am afraid
I'm in for all sorts of complications with those pearls. They certainly are a jink to me. Now that I have promised Karl never to give them up, what will I do if when I tell Jack about them he insists upon my doing it? And besides all this, I know that Alice has made up her mind to have them. She will try in every way to persuade me to give or sell them to her.

Sometimes I think, dear, that it isn't the big things in life that try one's soul. We can make a great sacrifice, or a great effort, but the continual little nipping details of life, the continual feeling of unrest when in the company of those with whom we must live daily, the continual little annoyances that are so puerile that we are ashamed to speak of them—these are the things that make modern martyrdom.

Edgerton Sandy asked me this morning (I met him on my return from my walk in the park) if you had heard from Walter Burke. It seems that he has heard from him, and that Walter is on his return trip home.

I expect, my dear, that in a few months, when you, marry Walter, I shall have to declare my partnership in the lingerie shop and take it over for of course Walter Burke, as rich as he is, would never allow his wife to be in business. You will probably go sailing away around the world, and oh, how I'll miss you.

When I returned and put in my hand twelve crisp, new five hundred dollar bills, and he said:
"I hope nothing will happen to these until you get them out of your possession, Leslie."

Forcibly, in my own mind, I hoped so too.

Is there anything you want me to

"When will Mister Bass be having more maple syrup?" asked Mrs. Crack-nuts.

"I don't think he'll be having any more," said Nancy, "because it's getting late in the season, he says, and the syrup has all run out of the maple trees."

"Well, I'm sorry," sighed Mrs.
Cracknuts. "The one thing that Daddy and I love better than nuts even, is maple syrup. I just feel as though I couldn't stand it to have to do without.
There! Thank goodness those dishes are done, I'm hurrying to get through for the paper-hanger is coming. Something has leaked through my walls and made them all damp."

"That's too bad," said Nancy. "Why it's running down onto the oor, too. It's all over your floor, Mrs. Cracknuts, and it's sticky."

"Sticky!" almost shrieked Mrs.
Cracknuts. "Whatever can it be?"
She rushed over to the wall where a tiny stream of clear stuff was trickling down. First she smelled and then she tasted. And then she almost fainted for joy. "It's maple syrup," she said weakly. "There must be a whole tank of it in my wall."

"Oh dear! How lovely!" cried Nancy. "I'll make a stopper so it won't be wasted," said Nick. And he took a little piece of wood and stopped the hole.

Daddy Cracknuts and his wife had enough syrup to last them all summer, and enough for company, too.

Don't you wish you lived in a maple tree?

Lobsters and Milk

You can order lobsters and milk at the same meal in a restaurant. The waiter will probably shrug his shoulders—but he'll serve them. His only responsibility is to cater to your tastes.

But try to order them in a sanitarium! Refusal! There they are concerned with the consequences! It is this greater responsibility of after satisfaction that Boynton-Richards Co. salesmen must assume, and daily they face similar circumstances.

A tan suit for a fallow man—a hat one size too small for the man who "don't want it around his ears"—a hard finished suit for the man whose daily routine at the desk may wear it "shiny."

The Boynton-Richards Co. salesman will frankly protest his reluctance to make such sales and all because the Boynton-Richards Co. unconditional guarantee is at work while you buy—as well as after.

The very best way to assure satisfaction is to sell it.

PRISON TALES

AMERICA'S ONLY PIRATE

BY KAIN O'DARE

America's only pirate is Joseph Kerwin and he is doing life in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., for sticking up a boat on the Great Lakes.

My main reason in writing about him is, that he is the editor of the Leavenworth New Era a prison paper, and it has always been my desire to get back at an editor.

Joseph and I were chums, more or less, while I was a prisoner in his home town.

Kerwin has already been locked up for more than 20 years.

During the time several Chicago papers, and other sheets throughout the country, have made effort to have the pirate released on commutation of sentence or by parole. For some reason or another these petitions have been made without avail.

Kerwin enjoys an outside pass from within the walls of his durance, and has had the chance to walk away from his fate for more than ten years. This he refuses to do, however. And it is such conduct meeting without award that has puzzled his petitioners for years.

Kerwin is a likable fellow, and is spotted anywhere in the prison by his smile. This smile has been seen by over 18,000 men, all of whom have come into Kerwin's durance, finished their terms of imprisonment, and have bid him good-bye.

I presume Kerwin has bid more people good-bye than any other individual in the United States.

When I first met the pirate, years ago, he told me he had hopes of getting his freedom within a few weeks.

After my sentence was finished and he had bid me good-bye, and after I had had another fling at the world and was returned to Kerwin's abode again for another term, he again told me he had hopes of getting his freedom within a few years.

This is the broken song he has been singing for years, and to him it never grows old.

A little over a year ago I crossed the continent, and on my way east I stopped off in Kansas City and ran over to the penitentiary in Leavenworth to see some of my old friends.

As soon as I got in the gate I met the pirate.

"How long this time?" he asked.

"Just for a few minutes," I replied.

"You mean to say you ain't locked

"GOODBYE"

up!" he exclaimed.

"Positively yes!" I told him.

Kerwin gave me his smile and his hand.

Both of 'em felt good.

"There's something about prison handshakes and smiles that are a hundred proof."

"How about your case?" I asked him.

"I have great hopes of getting out in a few weeks," he told me.

Then for the third time in my life he bid me good-bye, and disappeared through the entry.

I turned to the prison roster hanging back of the clerk's desk.

I observed that the consecutive numbers of the inmate population had increased 2600 since my freedom a couple of years before.

"Kerwin has bid 2600 more men good-bye," I thought.

HUNT CROWS AS SPORT

Beatrice, Neb.—All Nebraska is hunting crows. E. Bigler of this city has popularized the sport, and in most parts of the state a bounty is paid on dead crows, making the pastime remunerative. Bigler's method of hunting is to use blinds, as in duck hunting and he has found an imitation of the crow call to be an effective ruse.

Station WDAR, Philadelphia, has submitted storage batteries for the motor generator, to eliminate the commutator hum.

LEE CO. FARM BUREAU NOTES

Signatures to a petition asking President Coolidge and Illinois Congressmen to support the McNary-Haugen farm relief measure were secured in Lee County according to Farm Advisor Griffith. A total of 57,550 names were signed to the petition throughout the state.

Seventy-five per cent of the signers were farmers. But not only farmers were interested in the passage of the bill. Bankers—837 of them—signed; business men, ministers, doctors, plumbers, garage men, barbers and what-not were represented. Ten per cent of the signatures were by business men, 1.5 per cent bankers and 13.9 per cent persons in other miscellaneous occupations.

Sam H. Thompson, Quincy, Illinois, president of the I. A. A., left Chicago, Wednesday, May 15, for Washington to personally deliver the petitions to President Coolidge.

"The Illinois Agricultural Association set out to see how many signatures it could get among Illinois farmers after it had been reported that the McNary-Haugen Bill was a 'dead issue' in Illinois," said Mr. Thompson. "We got in touch with farm advisers in each county and in less than a week over 57,000 men had signed. The petition was circulated among farmers principally because it was said that the farmers were not interested. Obtaining over 57,000 signatures during corn planting time is no small physical task. Ninety-five per cent of the persons asked to sign were in favor, according to our county reports."

SCORES TWO MORE VICTORIES.

Two more companies furnishing limestone to the Lee County Farm Bureau members have agreed to the I. A. A. plan of allowing 10c per ton reduction on all orders sent through the Farm Bureau.

"The Lincoln Crushed Stone Company of Joliet," says J. R. Bent head of the phosphate-limestone department of the I. A. A. in announcing the new contracts, "is quoting price of 60 cents per ton to all purchasers on both their regular agricultural screenings and their double fine agricultural stone. On the 15th of each month they will remit to each county farm bureau at the price of 10 cents per ton for all shipments made during the previous month and on which payment has been received."

The Dolese Brothers Company, 337 W. Madison Street, Chicago, with a quarry at Buffalo, Iowa, has agreed to similar commission of 10 cents per ton from their present quoted prices on orders received through Farm Bureaus. Dolese Brothers' present price is good only until June 30, at which time some advance may be made, but it will still retain the 10 cent commission. Three prominent companies, separately located, have now subscribed to the I. A. A. plan. It is hoped more will follow."

PEST ATTACKS PINES

Washington—Ravages of the European sawfly threaten the complete defoliation of the pine trees of the United States. The pine nurseries and estates of New England and some of the North Atlantic states already have been attacked by the pest. The sawfly has been one of the greatest forest depredators in Europe.

The Farmer in the White House

"I have spent more time on agricultural problems than everything else that has been before me in my brief term as President", says Mr. Coolidge in THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

A silent man on most topics, the President talks with freedom about agriculture, defining his beliefs, his policies for the relief of the nation's farmers. He understands farming as no other President in recent years has understood—he is the first farm boy in 35 years to become President of the United States. Read David Lawrence's exclusive interview with Mr. Coolidge in the May 24 issue of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

SENATOR BORAH

Slated to be one of the most prominent figures of the Republican National Convention, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho declares that wasteful taxation is the paramount issue of the year. Of Federal, State and County expenditures alike he asserts that "Extravagance is only one short step from corruption".

Read Taxes Must Come Down, written by Senator Borah for THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

GOVERNOR LOWDEN

There is only one way for the farmer to get his just share of the consumer's dollar—only one way to end the vicious system under which prices for food and clothing at home are made in Europe. Read The Cooperation Cure, written for THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN by Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois.

SENATOR CAPPER

Laws Can't Save The Farmer is the title of an interview with Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, leader of the Farm Bloc in the present Congress and mentioned prominently among those who may be chosen as President Coolidge's running mate on the Republican ticket. What can save the farmer, then? Senator Capper tells in THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

ANNUAL REUNION IS ALSO GOLDEN WEDDING FESTIVAL

Unusual Family Fete at Barnhart Home Last Saturday.

Polo.—The descendants of Melinda Bracken held their ninth annual reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. June Barnhart at Milledgeville Saturday, May 17. The affair this year was of double interest and significance to the many relatives and friends inasmuch as it was also the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Barnhart.

On May 17, 1874, Miss Margaret McCahan was united in marriage to June Barnhart. At the time of the wedding Mrs. Barnhart was living with her parents on a farm southwest of Polo and has lived in the vicinity of Polo and Milledgeville since that time. The home was decorated throughout with gold and white and the bride and groom of fifty years sat in a double doorway and received their guests. A scramble dinner was enjoyed at noon by 99 members of the reunion. Mrs. Ames Schryver, president of the reunion, had charge of the program which was as follows: Prayer—Rev. Teeter, Milledgeville. Talk—Mrs. Mary Talbot, Polo. Vocal solo—Gladys Walker, Milledgeville. Reading—Edna Cable, Chadwick. Vocal solo—Mrs. Pluribus Powell, Polo. Recitation—Ella Bracken, Milledgeville. Instrumental solo—Pauline Donaldson, Polo. Reading—Helen Schryver, Polo. Vocal solo—Thomas Bracken, Sterling. Reading—Mrs. B. F. Duffey, Hazelhurst.

After the program Rev. Teeter presented the bride and groom with gifts from the various relatives and friends, consisting of $50 in gold, flowers, etc. From 4 until 7 o'clock guests from Milledgeville were received and the members of the W. R. C. came in a body. The afternoon guests were served with brick ice cream, gold cake and dangle's food cake. Guests from a distance, other than Dixon, Polo, Sterling, Chadwick and Lanark were: Mrs. Mary Haley and son, George, and daughter of Connorsville, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Deway and daughter of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. The day was a very enjoyable one and was one not soon to be forgotten by those who were present.

Miss Katherine Angle and brother, James, were guests of their cousin, Mrs. Fred Hilger, Jr., at Mt. Morris Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Toms and Mrs. Fred Hilger, Jr., were Polo shoppers Monday afternoon.

CORNET TAMES LIONS

Berlin, Germany.—Dr. Max Sostario, cornetist, was troubled by stagefright. To overcome this handicap he gave a private concert in a lion's cage at Hamburg. The lions at first sniffed suspiciously at the cornet, but later, as the doctor began triple-tonguing feats on the horn, they stood off spell-bound in a corner of the cage.

LOS ANGELES.—A daughter was born to Mildred Davis, screen actress, wife of Harold Lloyd.

SHANGHAI.—Captain Dolsey, French aviator, announced he would continue his Paris-Tokyo flight in a borrowed plane.

FAVORS OPEN SPACES

New York.—Joe Jones, well-known Wyoming guide, has heard the call of the great open spaces, where all the dogs aren't lap-dogs and where "men don't ride like cattle in a cattle car." Jones will do a one-legged drag any day, but he is afraid of New York and wants to leave on the first train west.

Henry Christian Heinkeken, a child of German parentage, could speak four languages when he was four years old. He died at the age of five.

VIENNA, Austria.—Wives may whip faithless husbands and the husband mustn't complain, according to a recent decision of the Austrian Supreme Court. When a woman beats her wayward spouse, the court held, such a beating is "but the natural reaction to his conduct."

CUBS TAKE LEAD
IN NIP AND TUCK
RACE IN NATIONALThree Leaders Bunched
Within Half a Game;
Reds Meet Giants.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Holding first place in the National League, Chicago is in a position to drive stakes around its claim while the Giants and Reds wrangle at Cincinnati in a four game series.

The Cubs meet Boston. The Braves turned gloat into despair by inflicting four defeats which pulled the Reds from first place. Since that time Boston has lost to St. Louis in the only two games played.

Grover Alexander pitched the Cubs into first place with an 8 to 6 victory over Philadelphia yesterday, while Osborne, a discarded Cub, hauled the Reds from the leadership by winning his debut for Brooklyn 9 to 2. The Giants, without Manager McGraw, beat the Pirates 10 to 8 in a slugging match and the three leading teams are now struggling within the narrow confines of a half game.

Red Sox Near Top
Boston in the American League won its 13th battle in 16 starts and advanced to within a half game of the leading Yanks by defeating Detroit in a 5 to 4 pitchers' battle between Jack Quinn and Collins.

It was the Tiger's third straight defeat at Boston.

It was announced that Daus, Whitehill and Johnson, pitchers, had been advised by specialists to give their arms plenty of rest and that Dutch Leonard veteran southpaw who quit the Tigers in April, 1922, because of a salary dispute, would return in July.

Although the Phillies lost at Chicago, their slugging continued as Moran made his second homer in two days and the sixth for his team in the three game series with the Cubs. Hornsby made four hits in the Cardinal 8 to 5 victory over Boston.

Wright, Pittsburgh young shortstop, continued his fancy work by making four hits.

McGraw Injures Knee
Manager McGraw was forced to his home in New Rochelle by an injured knee and Hugh Jennings will direct the Giants until the crippled leader's return.

Manager Evers of the White Sox is improving rapidly at his home in Troy, N. Y., following an operation.

Grover Alexander, ace of the Chicago Cubs pitching staff, who won his sixth consecutive game by defeating the Phillies, had the honor of pitching his club into first place.

Red Feber, star spit ball pitcher of the White Sox who had a piece of splintered bone removed from his pitching arm, is improving and will soon be able to use his arm.

If Bill Terry, the former Toledo American Association first baseman, continues to elude the ball as he has been doing since he replaced George Kelly, who had an ulcerated tooth, the Giants regular first sacker will have a tough time displacing him. Terry crashed out two hits against the Pirates. One of the blows was a homer.

Fohl's Boys Fight Hard
Glenn Wright, the former Kansas City star who hit .313 in the American Association last season, had his eye on the ball when the Pirates met the Giants yesterday. He bugged four hits, including a double and a triple in five times to the plate. He is the regular shortstop for Pittsburgh.

Manager Lee Fohl has his Red Sox fighting all the way. The players do not want to be taken out of the game as was demonstrated yesterday when Dudley Lee, the former Western League star, started his position at shortstop despite an injured hand. He was, however, unable to do his best and retired in favor of Ezzell.

Big Ten Players Meet

Promoters Considering
Referee for Big Fight

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, May 22.—Selection of the referee when Carpenter and Gibbons mingle at Michigan City, Ind., May 31 is being considered by promoters of the bout, who expect to make known their decision early next week.

Both fighters plan brief vacations from their training, as both are pronounced ready for the fray.

Chicago Bowler Makes
Score of 779 on Alleys

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, May 22.—What is believed to be a world's record for tournament bowling was made last night in an amateur league here by Eddie Kroens who scored 779 in the singles. His games were 265, 225, 299.

Greb and Burke Meet
at Cleveland, June 9th

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Cleveland, O., May 22.—Harry Greb, middle weight champion and Martin Burke, Cleveland will meet in a ten round no-decision bout featuring a boxing show in Brooklyn township just outside the city limits June 9 for the Olympic fund benefit.

St. Louis Billiardist
Wins Western Honors

BRITISH TENNIS
PLAYERS MARVEL
AT WILLS' GAMEAmerica's Young Title
Holder Astonishes
the English.

London, May 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Miss Helen Wills, America's youthful lawn tennis champion, made a favorable impression in her first appearance in action here. Choosing a Davis cup player, P. B. Spence, of South Africa, as a trial horse, she went out on the Surbiton courts yesterday and took six games from him in two sets.

There were murmurs of astonishment as the Californian, not only returned Spence's difficult service, but seized every opportunity for vigorous stroking, sending the ball back with plenty of pace and spin.

MALLORY PRAISES HER

Paris, May 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Mrs. Molla Mallory, former American lawn tennis champion, has arrived here on her way to England and will spend a few days in Paris. Asked by a representative of L'Auto, leading French sport paper, as to her impression of the new American champion, Miss Helen Wills, who is now in England, Mrs. Mallory replied:

"Miss Wills is a young prodigy. She plays with the strength and rapidity of a man."

Asked what she thought of the match between Miss Wills and Mlle. Lenglen, Mrs. Mallory said: "It is very difficult to forecast the result of an unplayed match. In my opinion my countrywoman will have to use all her advantages to the utmost to beat the French champion."

How to Guard Against Appendicitis

The best way to guard against appendicitis is to flush both upper and lower bowel once a week with simple glycerine, buckthorn bark, etc., as mixed in Adierika. Most medicines act only on lower bowel but Adierika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removes all poisons. Helps any case gas on stomach in TEN minutes. Excellent for obstinate constipation. HIS BROTHER'S WIFE
by RUDY AYRES
© NEA SERVICE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The marriage of Dolly and Nigel Bretherton proves unhappy. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly in the care of Mary Farnival. Nigel is killed and Dolly marries an old sweetheart and sails with him for America.

When Nigel's brother, David, calls to see Nigel's widow, Mary is ashamed to tell him of Dolly's marriage. David mistakes Mary for Nigel's wife and takes her to live with his aunt at Red Grange.

Mary is happy in her new home until Monty Fisher exposes her to David. Mary disappears. David asks Monty to help him find her. Monty is sorry for Mary and tries to help David find her.

David Bretherton for me, and find out if he would not do something for us. I think he might, as he got rid of me cheaply.

What did you do with the money you got for the contents of the flat? I would not ask you for it, but I must have money somehow—we want to come home, but we can't unless someone will help us.

Robert is brokenhearted that he should have brought me to this. He says over and over again that it would have been far better for me to have remained Nigel's widow than to have become his wife. He doesn't know my precious brother-in-law.

Robert is brokenhearted that he should have brought me to this. He says over and over again that it would have been far better for me to have remained Nigel's widow than to have become his wife. He doesn't know my precious brother-in-law.

"About this letter, Evans," he said slowly. "This letter addressed to Miss Mary Farnival—do you happen to know anyone of that name?"

The young man's face flushed. "I did see—yes!"

"You mean that you no longer know anyone of that name? Don't be afraid, Evans. You may be able to help us very considerably—Mr. Bretherton and myself—if you will be straightforward and tell us all you know."

The young man glanced at David. "It isn't very much, sir," he said then, almost reluctantly. "But one evening—some weeks ago—the night the Miltane went down it was, I sat next to a lady in the omnibus going home, and we got into conversation. I spoke of the boat having gone down, and she almost fainted—she said she had friends on it. She seemed very upset." He hesitated, flushing nervously.

CHAPTER LV
Alone in London

"YES—go on," said David.

"I took her home, sir. She was in deep mourning, and looked too ill to be allowed to go alone, I thought; and she asked me if I could make a few inquiries for her—about the list of passengers. She wanted to know if her friends were saved. I asked her to tell me their names. First of all she said that a Mrs. Nigel Bretherton was her friend, and afterwards she corrected herself, and said that she was a Mrs. Robert Durham. I didn't think much of it at the time—it was before I came into your office, sir—but afterwards, when there used to be letters and business to do for Mr. Bretherton here, it struck me as being a strange coincidence."

"Yes—and you never saw this lady again?"

"Yes I did, and she told me that her name was Mary Farnival. I—I went to see her once." He looked apologetically at David; perhaps he guessed something of the true story. "But afterwards she said she was going away to stay with friends for a time; she wouldn't let me know her address, though I asked for it. But I saw it—I saw it quite by chance on a label tied to some of her luggage."

MAIN INDUSTRIES OF ROCHELLE ARE HAVING FINE YEAR

Business in Institutions of City Shows Fine Prospects.

Rochelle—Rochelle is rapidly becoming an industrial center of far reaching importance and local industries are humming with activity. This is especially true of the food products industry two branches of which are still in their infancy here.

Seventy-five Belgians in family groups arrived here Friday on the Burlington railroad from Janesville to take care of the sugar beet industry started by a number of farmers of the community.

Thomas W. Southworth is one of the pioneers in this industry last year giving forty acres of his land to test out the soil. He cultivated this tract at a very profitable return. This sealed the enthusiasm of the farmers and many of them have taken up the idea of beet culture.

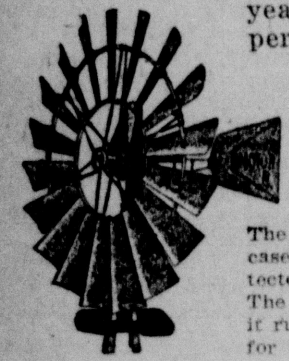

Morris Kennedy has 40 acres, Earl Cleveland 40, Earl Kennedy 40, and T. G. Southworth has doubled his acreage this year making it 80. In all 1500, 1800 acres are to be cultivated in the district. The Janesville plant is considering erecting a sugar mill here, provided the sugar beet planters have a successful crop. Mr. Southworth shipped to Janesville last year, and this is a natural result as a saving in freight expense.

The industrial workers are being temporarily housed in local hotels until quarters can be erected for them on the beet plantations.

George E. Stocking, pioneer canner here, has 100 acres under cultivation for asparagus and will start canning another season. This is a specially fine grade and great care is taken in its cultivation. Asparagus root have been received in carload lots and Mr. Stocking will have factory facilities just as soon as the crop is ready for cutting. It is possible that he may also ship to the Chicago market as well as can his product.

The Rochelle Canneries, Inc., which operates two canning factories here and packs Captain Kidd brand is the largest individual pea canning plant in the world. Its output this year is estimated as upward of a million dollars and to combine with its sweet corn its output will exceed a million.

The WINDMILL with a RECORD

The Auto-oiled Aermotor has behind it 9 years of wonderful success. It is not an experiment.

The Auto-oiled Aermotor is the Genuine Self-Oiling Windmill, with every moving part fully and constantly oiled.

Oil an Aermotor once a year and it is always oiled. It never makes a squeak. The double gears run in oil in a tightly enclosed gear case. They are always flooded with oil and are protected from dust and sleet.

The Auto-oiled Aermotor is so thoroughly oiled that it runs in the slightest breeze. It gives more service for the money invested than any other piece of machinery on the farm.

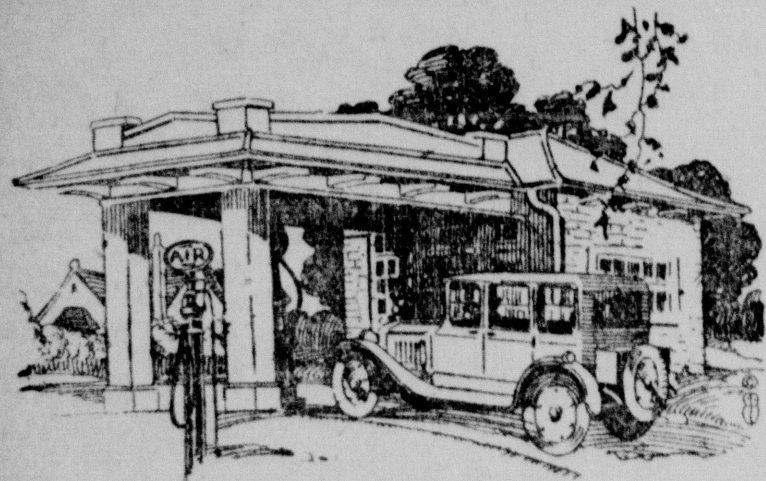

You do not have to experiment to get a windmill that will run a year with one oiling. The Auto-oiled Aermotor is a tried and perfected machine.

Our large factory and our superior equipment enable us to produce economically and accurately. Every purchaser of an Aermotor gets the benefit from quantity production. The Aermotor is made by a responsible company which has specialized in steel windmills for 36 years.

This season the foot and mouth disease has blocked the California early lambs from coming in but the western lambs from Idaho, Montana and Oregon are expected to begin the latter part of May. It is generally understood that the lambing season has been excellent in all these districts.

As many as 1000 carloads have been fed here in a season and over one Sunday there was upwards of 250,000 sheep in the pastures.

The Geo. D. Whitcomb Company is running full time and working over time to care for a splendid run of business. Their gasoline, Whitcomb-Fordson electric storage battery and trolley locomotives are in great demand wherever there is haulage work to be done. These sturdy machines designed by a pioneer builder are used in mines, pits, quarries, for switching on railroads and at industrial plants. In road making in many other profitable ways.

SULPHUR CLEARS ROUGH, RED SKIN

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist

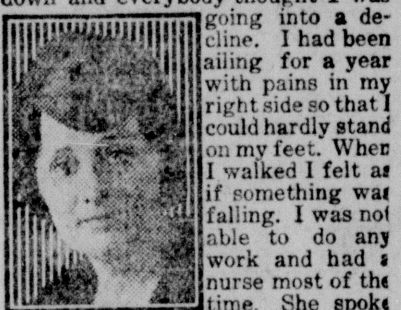

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Menthosulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Menthosulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

WOMAN AILING FOR A YEAR

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Happy Results

Newcastle, Pa.—"I was all run-down and everybody thought I was going into a decline. I had been ailing for a year with pains in my right side so that I could hardly stand on my feet. When I walked I felt as if something was falling. I was not able to do any work and had a nurse most of the time. She spoke to me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I gave it a fair trial. Some women think one bottle should cure them, but I did not stop at that. I took more and got better and am able ever since to do my own housework. There was a time, when I would complain of not feeling well, that my husband would say, 'Go to the doctor.' But now he will tell me to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's, and it has always helped me. I have had druggists tell me that they had something better, but they don't tell me that now, for I take no other. I have been taking the Vegetable Compound now for five years. Any woman who cares to call or write, I will be glad to tell her how it helped me."—Mrs. MABEL LIST SHERBURN, 1125 Newell Ave., Newcastle, Pa.
